LONDON, Aug. 1.—In the House of Commons last night an amendment to the criminal bill providing for the flogging of persons convicted of outraging girls was rejected by a vote of 125 to 91.

An amendment raising the age of protection of girls to 16 was carried by a vote of 179 to 71.

The six penny telegram bill passed to its third reading.

An official enquiry into the collision between the British steamer, Hecla, and the Liverpool and London steamer, Cheerful, which occurred on the 21st inst. off Plymouth, and in which eleven persons were drowned, was begun to day.

It was shown that the Hecla's ruler was utterly inadequate to control a vessel of 6,400 tons.

Mr. Gladstone in a letter says that personally he would have been glad if the age of protection for girls had been raised to eighteen.

Mr. Stead and others intended met to-day and appointed a committee to arrange a demonstration in Hyde Park in respect to the protection of young girls.

When about ready to move off three hearty cheers were given, to which the Major made a suitable reply, and on giving the command to move forward they were again cheered, the band playing some lively music.

REPRESENTATION.

Present indications point to a rather lively competition for the forthcoming election for the North West Council, and we must confess to a feeling of surprise that this should be the case, because in our opinion there can be found more to object to than to count in the position. In the first place while the work which has to be done by the Council is very necessary, it might just about as well be undertaken without the presence of the electoral element at all, nor is any sane man deceived into the opinion that in going to the Council or in helping to send a member there he is in any way enjoying representative government. While the whole body of the Council has no power to initiate anything of considerable benefit to the people it is by no means easy to persuade the bulk of the constituents to recognize this fact, and it is very questionable as to whether any man having political aspirations will not seriously damage his eventual prospects by occupying a seat at the Council board to-day. Any good that a member is likely to do his district under present circumstances is apt to be in proportion to the amount of influence he may be able to bring to bear personally upon the Government, and as that sort of influence entails frequent visits to Ottawa, it may be furthermore laid down that the amount of benefit he can hope to confer upon his constituents will bear a distinct relation to the length of his purse. It seems, however, that the experience of those gentlemen who could afford to be and have been out of pocket by the occupation of this position is not such as to prompt them to desire to resume it, nor can it be denied that it has a very strong tendency to be a very thankless task. The very nature of what has been done for the district by the retiring member is such as to prevent its being generally recognized, and it is a poor lookout for the next candidate to find Mr.

Macdowell grounding his objection to running again to a considerable extent on the fact of finding the position involving him in greater expense than he feels justified in incurring. Under these circumstances it becomes a matter of vital necessity that the coming election should be conducted with all possible regard to economy, and there really is no just reason why any expense should be incurred. What we wish to draw the attention of the people to is the fact that if they wish to get a good man to represent them and as far as possible to advocate their interests, it is their business to put him there, for a candidate must feel that he is open to the suspicion of having selfish interests involved if he can be expected to spend time and money and beg votes as a favor in order to secure the position. Of the number of names mentioned in connection with the candidature, there are those of several men quite equal to undertaking all the legitimate duties attaching to the position, but it is high time that steps were taken to reduce that number, because there is every probability that unless the voters proceed to concentrate their energies, the upshot of the business will be that some one of those in every way the least desirable may find himself elected. We presume that no one of the gentlemen who are likely to do us credit will accept a nomination without knowing pretty exactly the amount of support he can depend upon, nor is there any reason why such information should not be forthcoming with tolerable accuracy when required.

The recently appointed Governor of the Hudson Bay Co., who has been making a tour of inspection through the Territory, gave a banquet on Saturday night to an assemblage of about forty guests, comprising gentlemen of the district and a number of others who happen to be here on Government business of various sorts. This entertainment turned out a complete success, and the Hon. Mr. Wrigley made a most happy impression upon those who had the honor of making his acquaintance for the first time. An interesting feature of the occasion was the speeches made by Messrs. Muma and Oumiet, the Government Commissioners who have come to enquire into the claims of those who have suffered loss in consequence of the late rebellion. We regret not having known of the approach of these gentlemen before making some remarks which appeared in our last issue. However, we have much pleasure in stating our conviction that the choice of Commissioners made by the Government is certain to insure a completely satisfactory settlement of the claims in question. Mr. Muma has been a farmer all his life, and the sending a man of that stamp is evidence of the desire of the Government to do what is fair in the matter. Mr. Muma has had a great deal of experience of this sort of work, and assures us that his instructions are to act in a liberal spirit, and that the Government wishes to settle up the losses of the people at once, intending to let the H. B. Co. and others who can better afford to do so wait until the people have been served. M. Oumiet represents Lower Canada upon this Commission, and a very few words with him impresses one with the idea that his ability for the work and the spirit in which he is going about it leaves nothing to be desired. We were delighted with the way in which he explained the public sentiment of Quebec with regard to the unfortunate rebellion.

We learn from reliable sources that the distress at Batoche has been considerably exaggerated when reported, and that all cases of real necessity have been attended to by direction of the Government. If we have not been giving the Government more credit for such exertions as it has already been making, it is only because we have been kept in the dark with regard to their proceedings.

COMMUNICATIONS.

WHAT WAS IT?

To the Editor of The Times.

Sir,—Last Friday night about eleven o'clock there was seen a bright light travelling south from the town—the night you will remember was a very dark one—but from the light of the lamp on its arriving well up on the hill, could be seen two men travelling at a quick step, which step was broken at intervals by a sudden halt. Some hours after this, seemingly, same light and men were again visible on the top of the hill. Now what could this mean? Was there anyone lost that dark night, and these were his friends, or relatives, going in search of him? Or, were these two, some who had been having their photographs taken lately, and on seeing the "just like life" were so pleased, that the town became too small to hold them? PATROL.

THE CAPITAL.

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—There is no truth in the rumor that Gen. Middleton has recommended the presentation of a medal to the North-West troops who took part in the several engagements.

At an interview to-day the Minister of Agriculture said respecting the disposition of the $5,000 granted by the Dominion Government in aid of the Arts and Agricultural Associations, that it was the intention of the Government to use $2,000 of the money in making a Manitoba and Manitoba Provinces display at the coming exhibition at London.

The militia general orders say volunteers who have been under arms in connection with the rebellion are not to be called out to do annual drill this year. This is done to keep the expenditure within the appropriation.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—At a game of baseball here to-day the London's made 5 runs to the Toronto's 0.

The second charge is still being investigated by the Central Prison Commissioners. Five prisoners were examined to-day, and the court adjourned till Tuesday. There are twenty-seven charges altogether to be investigated.

GENERAL NEWS.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Stanley Huntley, a popular writer for the press, and author of the "Spouendyke papers," died last night at his residence on West Forty-fifth street.

DETROIT.

DETROIT, Mich. Aug. 1.—The well-known sporting man, Ed. H. Gillman, issues a challenge to any carman in the world, and especially Beach of Australia, to row Hulan on the Detroit river any distance at any time agreed upon for $5,000 a side. Gillman will put $500 or $1,000 forfeit with any reliable newspaper in the United States, and will put up the whole $5,000 before Beach leaves Australia, if necessary.

EGYPT.

CAIRO, Aug. 1.—It is reported that Osman Digna was killed in the Kassala battle. El Mahdi's followers are everywhere demoralized.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—It is the general belief in diplomatic circles here that a pacific solution of the Anglo-Russian quarrel is now almost certain.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Commencing shortly after daylight this morning, rain has fallen here without intermission. Early in the day the rain poured down in torrents, and hardly slackened up to what could be called a drizzle until late in the afternoon. At 10 p.m. the storm is becoming heavier, filling the people with apprehensions of a deluge, and the indications seem to point to a steady pour all night. Twelve hours from the commencement of the storm, the signal service officer reported the rain fall as 5.18 inches. At this hour the amount must be quite six inches. The damage to the property in the city through flooded basements is very great. Since early this evening the department of police has been in receipt of a constant stream of reports of damage of this nature. At six o'clock the elevators in the new opera house building at the corner of Clark and Washington streets, ceased to run. The water in the basement had put out the fires under the boilers. There are similar complaints from many sources.

A full assortment of diamond dyes at Clark's drug store.

Just received at Clark's Drug Store, R.B. Bitters, Vegetable Discovery, Scott & Lyman's emulsion cod liver oil.

At the last meeting of the Council of the Saskatchewan Rifle Association the different committees brought in very satisfactory reports, showing that the arrangements for the different matches were about completed and that we may expect a first-class meeting on the 1st of September. A team match is being arranged for between the Police, B Battery and residents of the town.

THE MEMORIAL.

At a meeting of the residents of Prince Albert and the surrounding districts, to take steps towards erecting a suitable monument to the memory of the brave men who fell fighting in honor of their Queen and country, Mr. T. N. Campbell was called to the chair, with Mr. S. Brewster as Secretary.

Moved by Col. Sprout and seconded by Geo. Brown that in view of the sad and heavy loss of life we have sustained in the death of nine of our brave citizen soldiers, and three of the equally brave Mounted Police, their comrades on the battlefield of Duck Lake, we do show our heartfelt appreciation of their services and regret for their loss by the erection of a suitable monument that will stand forth in years to come as a memorial of their worth to generations hereafter, and that a committee be appointed with full powers to collect funds for such purpose.

Moved by the Rev. Mr. McWilliam, seconded by J. MacArthur, that the committee, after having collected the necessary funds, do call a meeting of the subscribers to decide upon the site and design of the monument.

Moved by T. J. Agnew and seconded by J. D. Wilson, that the subscription list be open for twelve months, and that in the meantime a suitable fence be erected around the grave in St. Mary's churchyard, and that the Mounted Police be asked to remove the bodies of the three Mounted Policemen buried at Carlton, and deposit them alongside of those of the volunteers.

It was unanimously resolved that the committee meet in the schoolhouse next Thursday evening, and make all the necessary arrangements for a general canvass of the country.

A TORONTO FIRE.

TORONTO, Aug. 3.—One of the most destructive fires that has ever taken place in Toronto commenced about 12:30 this morning in the large brick building erected by the Toronto Sugar Refining Company on the Esplanade, igniting the wooden buildings as far west as five of six blocks. The buildings of Sauter, Evans, Heake, Gussell and Ibbotson, all boat-builders, Reid & Co. and Walsh & Co., lumber merchants, Carrie, Martin & Co., boiler makers, and other buildings are in flames, and unless the wind changes the whole south side of the Esplanade will have to succumb too. Sparks are landing on the roofs of large warehouses on Front and Wellington streets, and fears are entertained that several of them might take fire. The fire brigade are and have been working manfully, but their efforts seem powerless. The streets are lined with thousands of people. The loss will be enormous. Three schooners are burned to the water's edge. The fire is now half a mile in length.

1:45 a.m.—The work of destruction on the Esplanade still goes on, the flames having reached the foot of Yonge street, and all the intervening buildings and wharves have been burnt to the ground. The Great Western freight sheds, formerly the passenger station, on the north side of the Esplanade, is in imminent danger and is expected to be in flames every moment. The steamer Chicago is getting up steam to go out into the lake. The steamer Ontario got up steam and began to tow out the steamer Mazepa, but a schooner blocked the way and they could not get out. The Mazepa has caught fire and all three will have to succumb to the flames unless the wind changes. The whole south side of the Esplanade as far as the Union Station will undoubtedly perish. Showers of sparks are being carried to the opposite side of the street, and if the buildings there catch fire there is no saying what immense damage may be done. The fire brigade is absolutely powerless. Several elevators, coal yards, schooners, ferry boats, warehouses and many boat-houses are among the property burned. The loss so far is estimated at over a million dollars.

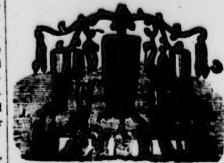

3:30 a.m.—So far the fire has been unable to cross the gap between the Scott and Yonge street wharves, but is completing the destruction on the path it has already travelled. A hurricane has just sprung up from the north-east which threatens to drive the fire across the street to the main part of the city, but the buildings on the south side are burned so nearly to the ground that unless the main part of the city catches fire from sparks, it is thought to be safe.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Public notice is hereby given that proceedings have been taken against the erection of the proposed Municipality of "The Town of Prince Albert," comprised of the following tracts of land, namely:

Parts of lots numbers sixty-eight, sixty-nine, seventy, seventy-one, seventy-two, seventy-three, seventy-four, seventy-five, seventy-six, seventy-seven, seventy-eight, seventy-nine, eighty, eighty-one, eighty-two, and of that lot known and described as the Reserve of "The Governor and Company of Adventurers of England trading into Hudson's Bay," or "H. B. Co. Reserve," all said lots being in the special survey of Prince Albert Settlement, as shown upon a plan of Prince Albert Settlement, dated 15th February, 1884, signed by Edward Deville, for the Surveyor General, and of record in the Department of the Interior, said lands being shattled and bounded as follows, that is to say, commencing at a point where the western boundary line of said lot sixty-eight meets the waters' edge on the southern shore of the North Saskatchewan River, thence south along said western boundary line eighty-six chains to a point, thence due east astronomically across lot sixty-eight to seventy-eight aforesaid inclusive and eight chains across lot seventy-nine aforesaid to a point, thence due north astronomically forty chains, thence due east astronomically to the western boundary line of Colville Street in said Reserve, as per plan of subdivision of said Reserve, registered in the office of the Registrar of Deeds, in and for Prince Albert District in the said Territories, thence along said western boundary line of Colville Street in a straight line produced to the waters' edge, on said southerly shore of the North Saskatchewan River, thence westerly against the current along the waters' edge, on the southerly shore of the said North Saskatchewan River, to the place of beginning, and containing by admeasurement one thousand eight hundred and thirty acres of land.

Therefore, under and by virtue of the provisions of the One hundred and seventy-second Section of Ordinance No. 4 of 1884, intituled "An Ordinance respecting Municipalities," I do hereby order that an election shall be held in accordance with the provisions of said Ordinance, in four weeks from the date of the first publication of this notice in THE PRINCE ALBERT TIMES AND SASKATCHEWAN REVIEW.

THE REBELLION.

By the last of March there were very few of the loyalist settlers who had not found their way into the town, although some of the people from St. Catharines and the Peche Settlement did not come in for some time longer. On the two last days of March and the early days of April those men who had not been recruited in the rifle companies were sworn in and formed into separate companies, the intention being to employ them on fatigue and other duties, in order to allow the armed men to devote themselves entirely to military purposes. As the area occupied by the increasing number of families congregated in and about the town for protection became more extended, and information had been obtained of the intention of the enemy to if possible creep through the lines and fire the town, it became necessary to greatly increase the strength of the guard at night. In order to do this a number of men from the last formed companies were stationed out at night armed with all the shot guns that could be scraped together. The men so employed were undoubtedly the best for this particular service, as the best formed companies contained the bulk of those who from long experience of the country were most likely to detect the approach of an enemy under such circumstances as were particularly to be guarded against. Upon the last day of the month the bodies of the volunteers who had fallen in the fight at Duck Lake were brought in by Mr. Train, Sanderson and Jackson, who had gone to bring them home, and who were accompanied by Newett, who had so narrow an escape at the hands of the enemy when left on the field as already described. It would needlessly harrow up the feelings of the friends of the deceased to dwell upon the appearance of the corpses, but those who saw them have need of all the lessons to be derived from Christianity before they can bring themselves to join in a prayer for the merciful treatment of the vanquished enemy. On the 2nd of April the bodies were interred in St. Mary's churchyard—the volunteers who had been in action, the police, the masons and St. Andrew's Society all being represented at the funeral, in addition to a large number of all classes of settlers who accompanied the funeral procession, and played appropriate music. An incident occurred during the performance of the ceremony which brought the realities of the times which had fallen upon the settlement vividly to the notice of the people. A man on horseback suddenly appeared over the hill, and seemingly astonished by the scene in the churchyard, wheeled round his horse and galloped back to the direction from which he had come. Many of those who noticed the man and his curious proceeding expected to see a body of the enemy appear, but when pursued by some of the Mounted Police, the man was discovered to be one of our own sons. This may be said to be about the last matter of interest to chronicle with regard to the rebellion as peculiarly connected with this settlement. The only other incident which has been the subject of comment was the fact of Lieut. Col. Irvine taking out the Police as far as the Ridge and returning forthwith. This action seems to present itself in so mysterious a light to the minds of some people, that they feel aggrieved that no explanation of it has ever yet been offered. The writer did not happen to be in the confidence of those responsible for this movement, but it seemed to him capable of a very natural and simple construction. Things had just proceeded to the stage when all though no orders ever reached Lieut. Col. Irvine to move out and co-operate with Gen. Middleton's force actively, such order might have been reasonably expected at any moment. Under those circumstances it seems very natural to suppose that Lieut. Col. Irvine should wish by practical experience to assure himself that all his arrangements were so complete as to insure his being able to obey such an order had it arrived, and furthermore to afford the volunteer garrison—which would be left to its own resources—an opportunity of preparing to act in such an emergency. On the long and dreary monotony of the time spent in the town it is useless to dwell. The only relief, if such it can be called, which was afforded to the senses of the town could be had with ease. Others speak of amber and of indications of all the precious metals and some of the pre-

Pitt and Battleford as reached here from time to time, and certainly was not calculated to reassure the beleaguered settlement. It seems hardly right to close without a word about the very important matter of the consularist dispute, which was handled by the Hon. Lawrence Clarke and his staff in a manner deserving of the highest praise. When it is remembered under what circumstances provisions had to be found for the large concourse of people gathered from every side, and the number of horses belonging to the Police and people for which sustenance had to be collected from over the country, it is marvellous with what unintermitted regularity the work was continued and with what rapidity it was executed. That until it became possible to estimate the quantities of necessities obtainable and the probable time during which they would have to last, there was a strict economy with regard to the amount of rations issued is only to say that the authorities exercised a just prudence, but that in this respect, as well as in the payment of the men, and the prices paid to the farmers for supplies purchased from them, the Government acted with great liberality cannot for a moment be denied. That in the matter of only allowing people out and in to the town when furnished with passes, the occupying some buildings required to house the people, the arresting suspected parties, and possibly in some other ways, there were some proceedings savouring of the high-handed has been asserted, but it must be remembered that exceptional circumstances require exceptional handling, and upon the whole the people have every cause to be thankful for their treatment, and that with the exception of the melancholy loss of life at Duck Lake, they suffered nothing worse than grave discomfort and anxiety. The rebellion was undoubtedly a most criminal error, and so much of it as has been left unexplained by the writer belongs rather to general history than to a record written for the local press. Whether such treatment of the Territories as will prevent its occurrence being a matter of unmitigated regret will be made is a matter which ought to impress its consideration most deeply on the minds of the Government, and certain losses resulting from it should be impressed with no less force upon the minds of the people.

GREATER CANADA

INQUIRY.

We take the following from the Saskatoon Debates, Hon. Dr. SCHULIZ—Ideally to enquire:

Whether the Government intends that Greater Canada, comprising the two Provinces and four Territories lying between the Lake of the Woods and the Pacific Ocean which contains our greatest forests, richest mines and largest wheat belt, shall have representation in the Cabinet of the Dominion at an early date.

With the permission of hon. gentlemen I desire to explain that I have called that portion of the Dominion to which reference is made in this enquiry "Greater Canada" not only because of its geographical extent, but that it is great in the possession of those conditions which form a nation's wealth. It is "Greater Canada" in that it has the greatest extent of coast line, the greatest number of miles of river and lake navigation, the greatest extent of coniferous forest, the greatest coal measures, and the greatest extent of arable and grazing lands; and, if hon. gentlemen are not satisfied that I have been justified in the selection of this name, I may go further and add that great as are the conditions of natural progress in the wealth of forest, mine and land which our explorers, surveyors and geologists have revealed to us, yet there is reason to believe that, in parts yet beyond their investigations, we have resources in some sense still greater than those which I have mentioned. They who have sought the shores of the Arctic Sea by land and river expeditions to its borders, when in search of the solution of the great geographical problem of the first half of this century, an open northwest passage by sea, have incidentally recorded facts of the greatest present value to us, and a perusal of the journals of Sir John Franklin, of Richardson, Hearne, Simpson and others will reward the Canadian reader with the most interesting information. One described a river, from the banks of which native copper protruded; another mentions the pitching of the expedition boats where thousands of tons of asphaltum could be had with ease. Others speak of amber and of indications of all the precious metals and some of the precious stones, and I have myself seen specimens of emerald sulphur as little mixed with earth as the finest is shipped from the mines of Sicily or Spain. I have just closed in using the term "Greater Canada."

Now, hon. gentlemen, it is this belief which rapidly one to mention these facts for consideration while making this inquiry. I was early under the impression that up to this time the section referred to has been misrepresented in the Midwest. As far as Greater Canada was concerned, there were only "theoretical" points, and that of the Pacific coast; they and several local questions to settle which might be supposed to interest them to a greater extent than those of the general policy of the Dominion, and they had no direct trade or communication with Old or New Canada, and hence the bond of union was as vague and uncertain as was that of the United States with California, Oregon, and the Territories of Idaho and Wyoming before the Union Pacific Railway was built. Once this great bond was completed, California, which refused the National currency and used only gold coin, and whose sympathies were very lax with the war then in progress, became one of the most loyal states of the Union; and so it will be with us, for hon. gentlemen will find that when Greater Canada is bound to us by such a bond as I have described, disaffection and threats will cease, and when the last rail shall have been laid, the last spike driven, which binds together with bands of steel this Canada of ours from sea to sea, then and only then will there be that complete union of interests, political, social and commercial, which is so necessary to build up a nation; and I hope to hear in answer to my question that the Government have under consideration the delegation of that agency, even by granting to the Pacific and Western Provinces representation in the Cabinet, and to the Territories that representation in the Senate and Commons to which their population, their great resources and their vigorous and successful work of pioneering so well entitle them.
